Dear Lt. Col. Licata:

I would like to thank you and National Training Coordinator Ben Mannes for participating in the National Crime Prevention Council's (NCPC) conference for 2003, United for a Stronger America. As the title suggests, this year's conference workshops were designed to provide attendees with tools and practices that can be put immediately into use. The Cateyes Program was an integral part of the focus on community-based initiatives for homeland security.

I wish you much success as you continue to teach the Cateyes concepts across the country. Your efforts are indeed an example of how we can make America a safer and more caring community.

Sincerely,

George S. Rice, Jr.
Director of Homeland Security and Public Affairs
